"PLAIN AND FANCY" TO BE COMMUNITY MUSICAL

Marie Wilson, MSAD #44 Director of Adult and Community Education, announces that "Plain and Fancy" has been selected for the Bethel Area Community Musical to be held on April 26, 27, and 28.

This musical was written in the 1930's and is set in the Amish country of Lancaster, Penn. Its story revolves around two "out of staters", Dan and Ruth, who travel from New Jersey to negotiate the selling of a farm Dan has inherited which happens to be located in the heart of the Amish country.

As the story develops they learn customs including, a "shunning", a "barn raising", and the struggle the Amish go through to maintain the religious convictions and lifestyle apart from the "modern" world. Songs from the show include "Plain We Live", "You Build A Barn?", "It Wonders Me", "Lantern Ballet", and the "Lancaster Carnival".

The director of the show is Benny Reel of Buckfield. He has been involved in the production of over 100 musicals in amateur, community, college and professional theatre situations. He has directed similar community productions at Oxford Hills High School during the past six years which have been enthusiastically received by participants and audience alike.

The other members of the production staff are: Technical Director, Chuck Ramsey, Drama Club advisor, Telstar; Choreographer, Barbara D. Gasser, Bethel; Orchestra Director, Terry Eldridge, Band

EMERGENCY MEDICAL TRAINING DISCUSSED AT MEETING WITH LEGISLATORS

Rep. Karen L. Brown and Rep. Laurence Kiesman (Fryeburg) met with Dept. of Human Services and Emergency Medical Services personnel. The March 2, meeting was called in response to requests from Maine citizens and legislators concerned about volunteer ambulance service.

The purpose of meeting with William Carney, Deputy Commissioner of Human Services and Dr. Alan Hume, Director of Medical Care Development, Inc., was to discuss Emergency Medical Training programs past performance, current problems and future directions. Specific areas discussed included the difficulties encountered by rural rescue personnel in their efforts to obtain training beyond the minimum level required for licensing.

Currently rural ambulance attendants are required to travel sometimes great distances to centrally located training centers, such as Vocational Training Institutes and major medical centers.

The two and one-half hour meeting between legislators and staff resulted in several agreed changes including:

1.) The offering of Emergency Medical Training courses in the geographical area of the personnel being trained.

2.) The Red Cross course and Emergency Care courses will be supplemented with additional patient assistance training and will be the minimum of licensures for ambulance attendants.

3.) The National Registry of ambulance attendants will be accepted in the state in place of the State Registration.

4.) All course examinations, both written and practical would be completed at the local training area.

During the discussion of funding the budget of the Medical Care Development, Inc., Rep. Linwood Higgins requested a complete breakdown of all salaries of the administrative personnel. It was agreed that the issue of State Funding support would be discussed at greater length after receipt of this material. The next meeting is scheduled next month.

GOAL OF CAREER EDUCATION SUPPORTED BY MANY IN AREA

In support of the goal established by the Board of Directors of M. S. A. D. #44 to develop a career education program, the following letter is shared with area citizens.

To the Community:

As members of the community, we believe that each citizen has a contribution to make towards the quality of life in the community. Central to community life is the opportunity to perform productive work. Career decisions and planning for individual advancement in a chosen field are important factors which can influence one's work life. Therefore, we support a career education program for the community aimed at accomplishing the above goals.

We believe that career education is a cooperative effort between education and the broader community aimed at helping all individuals become familiar with the values of a work-oriented society. Self respect comes from work and productive activity. Career education is a lifelong occurrence however, it is particularly important to our youth who will be moving into the working world for the first time.

Town and School Sharing of Facilities Investigated by Study Committee

Land Need Cited by Recreation Group

Close to the end of their preliminary investigations of the town's need for facilities, the Bethel Municipal Facilities Study Committee met on Tuesday, March 6, at the Bethel Savings Bank to talk with S.A.D. 44 Superintendent Kenneth Smith and the Bethel Recreation Board.

Mr. Smith told the committee that, among S.A.D. 44's alternatives for the future is consolidation of schools within the district, a project which would allow it to build several older, inefficient buildings. He indicated that the Ethel Bisbee School is one that would possibly be closed, and said that the school district would consider returning it to the town, if the town could utilize it. Another possibility would be to use it for school district storage.

The school district's building plan may involve expansion of Crescent Park School, adding classrooms and perhaps a gymnasium in the facility, and the committee inquired into the possible use of such an expanded Crescent Park School for community purposes.

Mr. Smith said that, though it might be desirable, the town, which would completely fund any new school building projects, would probably not look too kindly on such a "core facility" plan, unless it involved a library. Towns where core facilities have been built in combination with a school have usually not been part of a school administrative district, and so have had more freedom to combine schools with other facilities. A school district, representing several towns, has a broader constituency. He noted that such facilities have proven themselves valuable in other places, but that building one in Bethel would, at the least, be administratively difficult.

The committee will be touring the Ethel Bisbee School at the beginning of their meeting on Tuesday, March 13, to get an idea of the space involved and how it might be used, in the event that the town could use it for a community facility. The possible use of the land for recreational purposes, without the building, was also discussed.

Mr. Smith noted that studies of Ethel Bisbee School have shown it to be structurally sound, but insufficiently insulated, and a great consumer of increasingly expensive fuel. The "payback period" should the district choose to upgrade the structure, would be much too long, he said.

Wayne Gersen and Lawrence Bartlett of the Bethel Recreation Board said that the Recreation Board sees no present need for a building, but that they do need land, for tennis courts and other outdoor activities. The Recreation Board's investigation of a possible recreation site off Bridge Street by the Androscoggin led them to conclude that the area is too hard for children to get to safely; it also lies in the flood plain, a fact which would lead to many constraints on its use.

The ideal recreation land in the village seems to be that at Crescent Park, but any possible town recreation facilities there would crowd the site should the school district expansion plan be executed. The possibility of a town purchasing land adjacent to the Crescent Park site is presently under investigation, however.

The possible use of land at Telstar for tennis facilities was discussed. The Recreation Board had thought it too hard to get to safely.

FEDERAL FUNDING APPROVED FOR BETHEL AIRPORT STUDY

The Congressional office of Representative Olympia Snowe has contacted the Town Manager to inform him that master planning funds have been approved for the Bethel Airport Study. However, state and local funding must round out the estimated $15,000 which the study is expected to cost.

Since the annual town meeting in March 1977 approved all articles pertaining to the airport, including $750 for the 5% then required from local funds, the federal, state and town allocations have changed so that now state and local funding must account for 20% of the study's cost. Therefore, the Airport Advisory Committee has initiated a campaign to raise the additional $750 required if the study is to proceed. Additional state funds are expected and it is only the local funds that are, at the moment, unsecured.

A professional master plan is essential for the town to later acquire necessary state and federal funding for airport improvements. The committee has sent letters to businesses and individuals who are considered to be most interested in realizing airport improvements but would welcome any financial support.

Target date for the Committee's fund raising efforts is March 23. A contract for actual work on the study is planned in as short a period as 30 to 45 days if local funds can be raised.

BIT AND SPUR RIDING CLUB

The Bit and Spur Riding Club congratulates Bob Stearns, of Bethel, winner of the club's "Cord of Wood" drawing. Our "warmest" thanks to all those ticket holders who contributed to the success of the drawing. Proceeds from the drawing will enable the club to sponsor a variety of events during the coming summer season.

The Bit and Spur Club has now successfully completed its first year of organized activity. The enthusiasm and co-operation of club members and the general public has been outstanding. The club hopes to make equestrian events an integral part of the exciting schedule of summer activities in the Bethel area. Dates and locations of this year's schedule of Riding Club shows and events will be published as they become available. Many of these events will be open to the public, admission free and spectators are welcome to attend.

STATE OF MAINE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Karen L. Brown

A bill to exempt oil used to generate electricity from the Maine sales tax was heard before the Taxation Committee this week. The measure would remove at least $1.2 million annually from the cost of producing electricity in Maine, Maine is the only state in New England which levies a double sales tax—one on the oil used by utility companies to generate the electricity, and one on [residential] consumers who use more than 750 kilowatts of electricity per month.

This consumer bill is being carefully studied by the Taxation Committee with consideration being given to the loss of $1.2 million in state revenues and that there is no guarantee that this revenue will be passed on to the consumers.

Legislation to prohibit smoking at public meetings gained bipartisan support in the House and Senate this week and has now gone to the Governor for his approval. I did not support this legislation because I do not feel that it is the jurisdiction of the legislature to control personal rights like this. The landmark legislation would ban smoking at all public proceedings ranging from the local school board to the Governor's cabinet meetings.

A local provision inserted in the bill at the last moment, would permit smoking IF ALL members attending a public meeting consented to smoking during the proceedings. The presiding person at the meeting would have to police this.

The executive branch and the Maine State Employees Association have been negotiating a collective bargaining contract since October 1977. No agreement has been reached despite a recent fact-finder's report suggesting public employees be given two $16 per week raises, one retroactive to July 1978 and another be granted in July 1979.

The situation became very tense this week when Governor Brennan requested salary increases for his own staff to be many cases 18% over the Longley administration, and more than double what he is offering state employees. In his negotiations with state workers Brennan is demanding that salary hikes be held to 7% in accord with President Carter's wage-price guidelines. Yet about one third of the 8,200 workers represented by the Maine State Employees Association are exempt from those guidelines because they earn less than $4 per hour. The Governor defended the large increase for his own staff, claiming many of the current staff have had more experience and education than those of the previous Governor, and that it is "difficult to find people willing to work in Augusta at $10,000 or $11,000." There is no doubt that his untimely action will make it more difficult for the contract negotiation to go forward in a productive manner.

Whatever agreement may be reached between union negotiators and the Executive branch will have to come to the Legislature for funding approval. Thus, it may be quite some time before any state worker finds an increase in his or her paycheck.

Clarice Gibson, Corres.

Another wet miserable Monday, but at least we had another nice Sunday.

According to the Farmers Almanac, February wasn't going to be very stormy and March and April were going to be quite rainy. If we don't have floods, rain would be welcome; because so many wells were low last fall. Hope ours isn't, as our pipes laid from the pump house to the house got frozen and we have to keep the water running a little all the time. Frank told me we will have to do this until the frost all gets out of the ground, or it will freeze again.

Doug Smith of Hyannis, Mass., dropped in to see his folks, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Murphy were painting their living room when I called Sunday.

Larry, Ellen and Shawn from North Conway, N. H., came Saturday.

Mrs. Ruby Lindstrom of Fryeburg visited her sister, Della Ricker, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nelson and Mrs. Stanwood Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Heino, all went to Bridgton and had supper at Punkin Valley Inn Thursday night.

Christine and Nellie Hatstat of Albany visited Mrs. Brenda Gordon and Agnes Files, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Parker of Bethel visited his sister, Sunday.

The Daughters of Veterans met Wednesday night at the town hall. Sixteen attended. There were several from Norway. A nice lunch was served after the meeting.

A large crowd gathered Saturday for town meeting. The Fireman's Auxiliary furnished luncheon at noon.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanwood Nelson visited friends and relatives in Sweden and Lovell Sunday.

A church meeting will be held at the home of Helen Glover, Monday night.

Hawatha Lodge #49, K. of P. and Minnehaha Temple #53 held a joint installation with Edward Glover, P. G. C., and staff of Mexico, installing the Knights, and Estelle Varney, P. G. C., and staff of Norway installing the Sisters. A lunch and social hour was enjoyed by 35 members and guests.

Home
It may be a mansion
It may be a dump
It may be a farm
With an old open pump.
It may be a palace
It may be a flat
It may be a room where you hang up your hat.

It may be a house
With a hole in the floor
Or a big hotel
With a man at the door.
It may be exclusive
Or simple or swell
A wee bit of heaven
Or one little — — well,

But kindly remember,
That Shakespeare was right,
There's no place like home.

WOMEN'S FELLOWSHIP MEETS

The Congregational Women's Fellowship met Wednesday morning in Garland Chapel with Emily Saunders hostess assisted by Marjorie Cummings. Although the attendance was small it was a very interesting and informative meeting. Devotions were led by Marjorie Cummings in prayer and Bible readings from the Book of Psalms. Music was furnished by Mary Valentine for old favorite hymn singing with Frances Harding.

Sandra Caton showed the filmstrip—Hope in a Troubled World—from the Church World Service showing how and where the used clothing and various kits collected for the CWS are distributed.
Also shown were slides, narrated by Carolyn Brooks, of the CWS headquarters and 40 acre campus in New Windsor, Md. A bus load of people from Maine took a tour trip to the campus last summer.
They were especially interested in the International Gift Shop where many handmade gifts from countries serviced by CWS were displayed for sale. Part of the proceeds go directly to the craftsmen and a percentage is kept to help defray expenses.

Workshops will begin Wednesday morning in the Chapel. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be Wed-

The time has come for a frank

much emphasis is placed on learn-

Today there is much debate as

going to school for four (or more)

ADULTS STUDYING SCIENCE

Each Thursday evening Tim Kersey meets with a group of adults who are studying in the Adult and Community Education program of M. S. A. D. #44. The class takes place at Telstar from 6:30-9:30 p. m.

Pictured here are four of the students in the group who are involved in an experiment making oxygen. The course content is a combination of interesting experiments and discussions. "I never knew Science could be such fun," said one student, "it always thought it was too technical for me to understand." Tim has already proven that such is not the case.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Telstar Regional High School.

To many, this name is synonymous with high taxes; to others, it is a good vocational education.

But have we ever stopped and considered how well Telstar has prepared its students for college?

Are they comparable with other graduates of Maine high schools, or is their preparation incomplete?

As a 1978 Telstar graduate who is currently majoring in archeology and history at Bowdoin College, I feel that it is time that S.
A. D. 44 began to communicate with the Telstar graduates attending College as to the adequacy of their high school in preparing them for further education. This is logical—who else would know Telstar's strengths and weaknesses than her former pupils?

The time has come for a frank assessment of Telstar's educational system. Often, I believe, too much emphasis is placed on learning vocational skills at the high school level. Though these occupations are certainly very important (society could not function without them), should these programs be pushed at the expense of college preparatory classes?

Today there is much debate as to whether a college education is worth the thousands of dollars it normally costs; some believe that
going to school for four (or more) additional years lessens the character of acquiring a good job, since their high school classmates have a four year headstart in the job market. Many also say that college is not practical. Isn't learning how to deal with people the most practical thing on earth?

While it is true that in most vocational work there is plenty of opportunity to meet new people, they are usually from the same walk of life and area. There is nothing wrong with this, but at Bowdoin alone I have met people from around the globe. Learning to view their culture, and they ours (even in the United States, the number of stereotypes about Maine is astonishing—one person I know thought that we still used flintlocks in Oxford County.) is perhaps the most valuable educational experience that I have had this year. It also strengthens my belief in the beauty of our way of life.

I believe that many of us fail to realize the value of a college education, and this belief is reflected in Telstar's curriculum. As of last year, the lack of English grammar in high school is perhaps the largest problem for college students, since it goes without saying that an incompetent background in grammar severely limits any writing in college. It is a sad day when one learns the most about English grammar in a French class.

Learning how to research is another very important part of college that is not given sufficient attention at Telstar, except possibly Mr. Morton's History classes; these alone have done more for me than any other course at Telstar. In most other classes, little attention is devoted to teaching research skills; one is shown to the library and told to write a report.

Believe me, I am not trying to attack our small town education; for the most part, Telstar has aided me substantially in college.

However, I believe that much more work can and should be done in strengthening the academic program at Telstar. A start would be to require a year of typing for every college bound student; another would be a mandatory year of grammar and writing.

But the fault does not lie with the administration and faculty of Telstar, alone. It is the responsibility of our communities to see that we have set a high standard of education for our children, because by limiting the opportunity of Telstar's college bound students, we are also limiting their ability to enrich other people with the western Maine heritage so deeply implanted in most of us.

Anyone wishing to take the College Board Scholastic Aptitude Test (S.A.T.) or Achievements Test (AOH) on May 5 should register before March 30. Applications are available in the Guidance Office. It is recommended that all college bound juniors who might apply for a four year degree program take the College Board Achievement Tests in May. Most candidates for four year degree programs are required to take three achievement tests. It is especially important for juniors to take achievement tests in subjects they do not plan to take their senior year, such as a foreign language, or mathematics sequence. One year subjects, such as Physics or Chemistry, may also be taken, since a major portion of the material will be covered in May.

Several activities could mark the beginning of a voluntary cooperative effort.

(1) If teachers plan to discuss local opportunities and working situations with young people, the community needs to help teachers become thoroughly acquainted with local business operations. One way to do this would be for a number of local businesses to plan a part day or full day session for teachers which brings a small group (8-10) teachers into a business or businesses to: (a) discuss how that business fits into the local economy and the larger economic picture; (b) discuss how the business is organized, what types of jobs are there in the business and what opportunities might be available in the future; (c) tour the buildings and facilities; (d) talk with present employees about the jobs and what young people who are thinking about similar kinds of work should know about those jobs.

(2) Citizens could make themselves available to talk with interested young people individually about what their job is, what kinds of education, skills or experience is necessary to perform their work, what the good points and bad points are concerning their work.

(3) If an individual student is interested in learning more about our job, we could arrange for that student to spend 2 or 3 days with us to watch what we do on a day to day basis.

In addition, we recognize that some work in our communities is not paid employment. There are many volunteer groups and clubs as well as local government activities which rely on donated time and skills to accomplish work for the community. If the youth of our community are to fill those volunteer roles in the future, there needs to be opportunities for young people to have experiences which help them learn about the workings of these community service activities.

(4) Citizens could invite young people to attend various meetings with them to get a feeling of how the group functions.

(5) Each group might include young people as participating members.

The process of career education is a shared community responsibility. None of us can make it a reality by ourselves.

The weather changed suddenly and it has been warm 24 hours a day with some wind, rain and sunny periods. This has brought down the snow cover rapidly. The first vehicle to go on Cross Street this spring was a two wheel, all boy drive. It might have been easier to ride the bicycle the long way round, but the direct route apparently seemed more natural. "The man who claims the least respect is he whose twin brother forgets his birthday." It is nice to hear a few more birds and to see them flying about more frequently. The Fontaines of Saco called in the Berniers Sunday p. m. The Viens family visited relatives in Quebec last week end.

The pines hang dark by the little pond tonight where the snow still spreads beneath the light that is fading in the west, like a bird in silent flight. Now with the sun as a memory and just a glow in the sky; I see in the dusk a lone snowmobile speeding by. How much faster he covers the ground than I did on snow shoes this afternoon to stretch my thoughts.
Examine. Listen.

William Cullen Bryant said:
"When thoughts... come like a blight over thy spirit, and stern images... make thee to shudder and grow sick at heart, go forth under the open sky and list to Nature's teachings."
I was not "sick at heart" just wanted to appreciate my surroundings.
I took a direct route up through the woods to the top of the farm fields. There I took a breath of wonder for below me and before stretched the country side framed into lesser hills, or moulded into valleys; a beauty to those whose eyes rest upon it with delight. Of course the valley country extends for miles before another mountain rises. The woods make a lovely variety over the landscape.

I turned aside to explore the field, as I had not been here since the snows came.

Out on the sky-line there was a cloud-factory at work; first clear sunlight then a gray-dawning light.
Looking down to the pond in its winter solitude, I could see places that glowed faintly because of recent rains or because of windswept ice.

Now moving uphill again and to the right I crossed the wall and down a steep incline to the road, which today can scarcely be recognized as such.

The cloud-line was ever rising and falling with the wind. The whole valley lay quiescent in the cup of winter.

Here the tracks of the partridge were visible in many places. The partridge usually knows when it's early March and loves to look around for an apple salad. During the winter it feeds on a diet of seeds and berries but when the sap begins to rise and apple tree buds swell Mr. and Mrs. Partridge arrive to enjoy their succulence.

Of course these buds would make apples but who can begrudge them their feast. By May these birds will be stuffing themselves with beetles and bugs thus helping the apple trees. They pay their way.
They know that spring is truly inevitable.

I turned left across the top of the hill to our spring. Except for the location of the wood cut section where the pipe lies I could not tell where it was. How different the surroundings are in winter. I found the spring road which went toward the house, and snowshoed homeward.

There will be more snow I'm sure but one thing about it; it won't have the same staying power as in January. I know that even in March it isn't really spring in Maine but neither is it mid-winter.

Like today it can be warm and sunny and can beat back the cold.
March brings a change so enjoy each day. Keen attention to details about is a happiness-oriented habit. It causes you to appreciate the natural around you.

A very few attended Town Meeting from our section of town on Saturday.

Six members of Club Eight met for a social afternoon with Katie Tamminen on Tuesday. I was the winner of the hostess prize. It was a nice party.

I attended the Delta Kappa Gamma meeting with Lettie Brooks and Lillian Curtis at Carolyn Baker's home in Norway, Friday evening.

The Hayes family were at the parents' home over the week end.
Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Leeper of Kingstown, R. I., were here at their cottage for the week end.

Callers at the home of Frank and Dorothy Curtis were: Laurie Curtis, Farmington, Helen French, John Swan, Locke Mills; Mildred

Bowman, Hebron; Donald Bowman, Canton.

Dorothy Curtis received word of the death of her oldest brother, Charles Michelson, in Toronto, this week.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY COOK BOOK COMMITTEE MEETS

The Cookbook Committee of the Bethel Historical Society, headed by Mrs. Maxine Brown, met on Monday, March 5, at the Moses Mason House.

Preliminary work with the many recipes already received occupied a good deal of time. There are several recipes which were donated without the donors' name. The Committee would appreciate it if the donors of Yankee Christmas Pudding, Ethel Sanborn's recipe for Bread and Butter Pickles and Sadie Brooks' for Sponge Cake, Apple Gems, Standby Salad Dressing, and Christmas Plum Pudding, would give Mrs. Brown a call and identify themselves.

The Historical Society is still anxious for more recipes, particularly in the categories of main dishes, vegetables and beverages. Old family recipes are desired, as well as favorites in use today. Recipes may be left with Mrs. Brown, Cathy Newell or Stanley Howe.

MOLLOCKETT MIXERS

The Mollockett Mixers Square Dancers will hold a class dance March 16 from 8 to 11 p. m. The dance will be held at the Rumford Center School. Calling will be Terry Campbell.

On March 24, they will be having a club dance at the Rumford Center School. This dance will also be from 8 to 11 p. m. Glenn Zeno will be calling this dance. Round dance will be cued by Wally Weeks at both dances.

FACILITIES COMMITTEE MEETS

continued from Page One ly, but, with the news that a bike path is scheduled to be built by the State from Bethel village to the school during the next few years, the Recreation Board is reconsidering this possibility. The Recreation Board is also continuing to investigate purchase of land for a public swimming facility for the town.

Dr. Gersen noted that one of the most important functions of the Recreation Board is involving citizens in volunteer participation in the town's recreation program. He said that community cooperation recently has been superb.

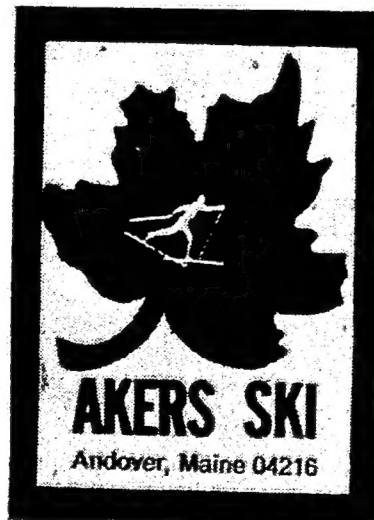

The Study Committee has arranged to meet with the Planning Board later this month, and will talk to the Selectmen early in April about some of the things it has learned in its investigation so far. Chairman Cathy Newell noted, though, that the committee needs more input from the public on many of the matters it is considering, and said she hoped that the committee's meetings with organized groups would not inhibit individuals from making their thoughts and opinions known, especially about such a matter as a community room for the town. She again invited members of the public to talk with the committee at its Tuesday meeting.

Next week, on March 13, the Study Committee will return to the Town Office for their session after touring the Ethel Bisbee School.

Anyone who would like to talk to the committee is asked to come to the Town Office at 8 o'clock, or, if that is inconvenient, to communicate with the committee's staff assistant, George Allen, at the Town Office, 824-2669, to arrange another time. Another option is to talk to a committee member. The members of the committee are Clark Bartlett, Marcia Denison, Carol Gersen, Neil Merrill, Cathy Newell, Randal Stevens and Archie Young.

Information on 1979 Town Meeting Warrant

BUDGET ARTICLES 4-22

General Comments: The total of Bethel's 1979 proposed town appropriation is $366,681. This reflects an increase of 5.6% or $20,809.76 over $365,871.24 appropriation in 1978. Proposed appropriations from General Revenue Sharing, Surplus and Excess Inventory Reimbursement funds amount to $164,607.95. This appropriation of non-property tax monies is $24,675.04 less than in 1978 due to the loss of Federal Anti-Recession funds. The net effect of the budget increase and the loss of other revenue is that an additional $45,484.80 will need to be raised through taxation if all proposed budget articles are approved.

This year's warrant is a little different from last year in that separate articles (11-22) are included to the citizens to consider the funding of outside agencies providing services directly to the people and the funding of special projects. Articles 4-10 deal with the funding of currently municipal services. These proposed amounts contain no expansion in services.

General Government: The proposed increase of $5,694 in this account is due to increased costs of goods and services, salary increases, and the town's fully funding of one Town Office position which was funded by the CEFA program for 10 months in 1978.

Protection: The proposed decrease of $4,870 in this account is due mainly to the fact that a new police car is not needed in 1979 and that no new hydrants are proposed.

Leisure Services: The increase of $200 in this category is due to the increased request from the Bethel Library Association.

Public Works: The increase of $11,016.76 in this category is due to the increased request for new equipment (a new dump truck to replace a 1970 model is proposed for this year), increased requests for State Aid construction and reconstruction, and increased requests for tarring and sidewalk construction. Increases in these accounts are partially offset by decreases in the Roads and Bridges, General Road Construction, and Garage Maintenance accounts. Major work projects proposed for 1979 include: reconstruction of a section of the East Bethel-Locke Mills Road, reconstruction of a section of Lovers Lane, reconstruction of a section of Paradise Road, reconstruction of a section of the McCrillis Road from the IGA to the Casco Bank, and tarring of several streets and roads.

Unclassified: The $2,260 proposed increase in this category is due to increases in the cost of employee hospitalization and retirement plans. The retirement plan increase results from the plan being funded for 12 months in 1979 as opposed to nine months in 1978.
